Math Coaching Studio With Teachers Development Group A series of 2-day coaching cycles

Target Audience: *Math Coaches and Teacher Leaders trained in the Teachers Development Group Studio approach

In this Math Coaching Studio, the work will be situated in the live, real work of coaching. During a two-day cycle, coaches will participate in planning a coaching session, observing the coaching session in real time with teachers, debriefing the session and setting next steps. The TDG consultant will coach a “studio coach” to lead the session while other coaches observe.

Examples of coaching sessions include:

- planning with a teacher for a math lesson, side-by-side coaching during the lesson, then debriefing the coaching session,
- teaching in a classroom to focus on specific Mathematically Productive Teaching Routines while being transparent about actions in the moment with observers
- leading a team meeting with a group of teachers

*School systems that have or are using the Studio Coaching model include:

 FCSU – Maple Run School District
