Course Description:

This course addresses small group teaching for struggling readers in grades 3-5. Topics include assessment and grouping, planning for instruction, using leveled texts, , teaching phonics/word study , fluency, comprehension, and vocabulary. Participants are required to work with at least one small group of children for 18 -20weeks.

Behind the Glass Observations:

Participants may be required to teach one group behind the glass (or videotaped) in selected training sessions to develop skill in observation and decision-making.

Course Principles:

- Reading is a complex process involving the use of meaning, language and print information.
- Observation of reading behavior informs teacher decision-making and provides evidence of learning.
- Children take different paths to common outcomes.
- Readers need to develop self-monitoring and self-correcting strategies.
- An understanding of language and language differences is essential to understanding the development of a reading process.
- Reading and writing are different but complementary processes.
- Reflection on and analysis of teaching practice are ways to improve teaching.

- Teacher knowledge of text levels and characteristics is critical in effective teaching.
- Phonological awareness is a critical factor in learning to read.
- Readers who are having difficulty are different from each other.
- Fluent responding is a necessary goal for effective reading and writing.
- Assessment informs ongoing teaching.
- Writings need to develop a flexible range of strategies.
- Comprehension within, beyond, and about the text is an important aspect of effective reading at each level.

Required Texts:

Fountas, I.C & Pinnell, G.S. Systems Guide for the appropriate level. (Red, Gold, Purple) . Heinemann: Portsmouth, NH

Assignments:

I. Readings

Read the assigned chapters and articles. Keep a two-column journal as you read. Write your understandings on the left and your comments and reactions to the content on the right. Bring your journal to class to help guide discussion.

II. Analyzing Change Over Time

Videotape two lessons (consecutive odd and even) early in the intervention. Take a reading record for each child in the group reading the same book. At the same time, get an independent writing sample for each child in this group (from the classroom if necessary).

Repeat this same process for this group late in the intervention:

Videotape a lesson at least 5-6 weeks later.

Take a reading record for each child in the group reading the same book.

Get an independent writing sample for each child in the group.

After viewing your videotapes, use the “Leveled Literacy Intervention Reflection Guide” to guide you in thinking about your teaching. Write an analysis of how the teaching changed from early to later in the group’s program. Also include an analysis of how each child in the group changed as a reader and a writer.

For the reading, code, score, and analyze each record completely. Your record must be accurately analyzed to receive a passing grade. Use When Readers Struggle as background information and complete the “Guide for Observing and Noting Reading Behaviors”. Use this information to choose your teaching moves from The Continuum of Literacy Learning for the appropriate text level. Then note the language you will use to support this teaching from Prompting Guide 1 and 2.

For the writing, use “Early Writing Strategies.” Then use the writing section in The Continuum of Literacy Learning for the appropriate grade level to choose your teaching moves in the areas of craft and conventions. Then note the language you will use to support this teaching from Prompting Guide 1 and 2.

Include the analyzed reading records, the independent writing samples, and the information about your teaching moves and teaching language with your analysis and videotapes. You may include other evidence to support your analysis.

Course Evaluation:

Students must attend and participate in all sessions, complete all readings and complete all class assignments, achieving a B or better grade. 3 credits

Readings—20% of grade

Analysis—20% of grade

Attendance—10% of grade

Attendance Policy:

The academic integrity of the program depends on students attending all scheduled class meetings. Students should discuss with faculty, in advance, any portion of a class meeting they cannot attend. Absence from class may be reflected in the student’s grade.
